YESTERDAY BIG DAY FOR CHRISTIAN CH.

SIXTY IN COLLEGE CLASS—AMBITION 100

MEMORIAL FUND RAISED

Miss Imo Evans Conducts Conference For Young People's Leaders—For New Program

Yesterday was a great day in the history of the Christian Church of Maryville. The goal of 500 for the Bible school was more than reached with about sixty in the College class. Everything was in readiness for the big dinner which the three women's classes gave the Men's class as a result of the victory of the men in a contest last summer.

At the meeting of the Bible class, which is composed of both the men and women of the College, held its election and chose the following officers: President, Marie Landfather of Maryville; vice president, Leston Webb of Pattonsburg; secretary, Nellie Moody of Plattsburg; treasurer, Clifton Smith of Rushville. Miss Nellie Lowry, who was president of the class last summer, is away teaching.

The attendance at the Bible class was the largest on record for the opening day for the fall term. It is the ambition of the leaders of the class to have an average of 100 at the sessions throughout the winter. The class has an attendance of 200 or more a part of the time during the summer.

It is thought that 500 of the church people were at the park to have part in the dinner and picnic. The ladies showed the men a lively time and gave them all they could eat. Among the most interesting things on the program was a poem which Mrs. J. B. Robinson had written and which she read to the crowd.

Miss Imo Evans of Lathrop conducted a conference with the Christion Bible school leaders who have to do with the young people of the church, at three o'clock yesterday afternoon. It is expected that a new program will be worked out by the local church for the young people and which will likely become county wide. The County Board of Christian churches is to have a meeting later this week to adopt plans of procedure, among which will be the calling of some trained worker among young people to spend a month in the County, building the program.

Miss Evans gave the address at the evening church service last night instead of Dr. Fred Keller as announced. Dr. Keller will suppiy the pulpit next Sunday night in the absence of the pastor.

The Christian Church here raised a little more than $200 at the service yesterday for the Chapman monument. Several members of the church and friends of Bro. Chapman will yet subscribe, which will run the amount up considerably. The pastor asks all in the community who wish to donate to this fund to see A. L. Nash or leave the money at either the Nodaway Valley Bank or the Farmers Trust Co.

The Rev. R. E. Snodgrass is in Rosendale today meeting the Memorial committee and also having a conference with a Burlington attorney relative to a settlement for Mrs. Chapman.

From Rosendale Mr. and Mrs. Snodgrass will go to Liberty, Mo., for the District Convention. They will return Wednesday. During Mr. Snodgrass' absence the revival at Skidmore will be carried on by a men's gospel team from the local church and on Tuesday night Dr. Keller will supply the pulpit there.

HOME COMING DAY OBSERVED SUNDAY

GRAHAM PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH CELEBRATES 50TH BIRTHDAY.

WILL CALL A PASTOR

Rev. Allison, President Uel W. Lamkin, and Prof. Wells Made Talks.

The Home Coming Day observed yesterday by the Presbyterian Church at Graham was very successful. A good crowd gathered in the morning for Sunday Schol and remained until the program ended at 4:30 in the afternoon. A fine chicken dinner with all the accessories, and plenty of cake and pie to finish on, was served.

Many former members now living away from Graham were back. One of these, Mr. W. L. Eshelman, of St. Joseph, sang a solo in the morning, and in the afternoon spoke on some reminiscences of the church. His father, William Eshelman, had been clerk of the session for many years, and the son spoke from facts in the old original record book. Several cars took folks from the Maryville church for the afternoon program.

Dr. Marion Humphreys, of St. Joseph, who is the executive secretary of St. Joseph Presbytery, preached in the morning, and presided in the afternoon.

The afternoon speakers, in addition to W. L. Eshelman, were President Uel W. Lamkin, Prof. C. E. Wells and the Rev. S. P. Allison of Maryville. Luther A. Richman, the new voice teacher at the Conservatory, sang as a solo "A Voice Crying in the Wilderness."

At present the Graham church is without a pastor, the Rev. Leonard Parker having moved last spring to Greene, Iowa. During this week they are planning to make a financial canvass and to make arrangements to call a pastor. Dr. Humphreys is cooperating with them in this and they have prospects of securing a fine man.

This church was organized in January 1860, but the building was not erected until the middle of 1867. Sunday the boys who rang the church bell for the first time in 1867, and now old men, again rang the bell, being J. H. Bohart and Peter Maurer.

BROWNS CUT DOWN YANKS LEAD IN SUNDAY GAME

Are Now But a Half Game in the Lead —Third of Series Today—Ty Cobb's Record Broken

The St. Louis Browns cut the lead of the New York Yankees to one-half game when they won from the leaders of the American League yesterday at Sportsmans Park in St. Louis by a score of 5 to 1.

The feature of the game was a pair of home runs by Ruth and Williams. The Bambina hit his home run in the sixth inning with no one on and Williams clouted out his thirty-eighth circuit drive in the eighth with Sisler on base. George Sisler, star of the Browns, broke the records established by Ty Cobb of the Detroit Tigers in 1911, when he hit safety in his forty-first consecutive game. Pitching for the Browns, Pruett hurled invincible ball and struck out eight men.

This game was the second of a series of three which the Browns and Yanks play at St. Louis. The Yanks won the first game Saturday by a score of 2 to 1. The deciding game is being played today.

WORKMAN CASE UP IN CIRCUIT COURT

TO DISCOVER ASSETS OF G. W. WORKMAN ESTATE

MAYER AS SPECIAL JUDGE

It Is Alleged Francis M. Workman Is Withholding Assets Belonging to The Estate

Judge Charles H. Mayer of St. Joseph was sitting as special judge today in circuit court here in the case of J. Tom Workman and the Gillam-Jackson Loan and Trust Co., executors of the estate of the late George W. Workman, against Francis M. Workman, to discover the assets of the George W. Workman estate. The case was appealed to circuit court from probate court by the plaintiffs, a decision in the probate court having been given that Francis M. Workman was withholding some $32,500 in notes belonging to the estate, which should be turned over at once.

When George W. Workman died over a year and a half ago, the executors of the estate were only able to find $1.05 in cash in a pocket book and $79.50 in household goods. It was always thought that Mr. Workman was worth considerable money. J. Tom Workman, a brother, contended that George W. Workman, had an estate of $47,000. Francis M. Workman claimed that all of the money George W. Workman had belonged to him, excepting $15,000, which he claimed was given to him for keeping and giving his brother a home. Before George W. Workman died he left a will leaving his estate equally between his two brothers, J. Tom and Francis M. Workman.

The testimony introduced in probate court will be given, the evidence being read from stenographer's notes. It will probably take another day or two to finish the case. Fred Harvey and Fred Wolfers are representing the executors of the estate while Wright & Ford are representing the defendant.

Judge Mayer was accompanied to Maryville by his wife. Judge Mayer is well known here, having been special judge in a few cases here. He is a member of the Democratic State Committee and at its organization last week made a fight to get a country man elected state chairman instead of a St. Louis man.

REDISTRICTING WEALTH.

The unequal distribution of wealth causes a good deal of ill feeling, and many people believe that energetic steps should be taken to remedy this condition. It is remarked, for instance that two percent of the people own 65 per cent of the property in this country, which seems altogether wrong.

Yet when you consider that probably two per cent of the people have 65 per cent of the business ability, it is not strange that this condition should exist. As long as there are such tremendous differences in business ability, there are bound to be tremendous differences in wealth, if you permit people to keep for themselves what they individually produce.

The man of slight or ordinary ability turns out just the little product that he can create with his own hands or brain. But the man of great organizing ability will take an inefficiently operated plant and may double its product, without imposing harder tasks on anyone. Thus he accomplishes as much as all the people that work under him put together. It seems good judgment to allow him liberal compensation for his effort, otherwise he would have no incentive to exert the utmost of his powers.

Nevertheless, this unequal distribution of wealth is an evil, and the community should try to remedy it so far as it can without discouraging the exercise of superior ability. People of wealth should expect to pay heavy taxes and should not growl about them. Inheritance taxes or large fortunes should be made as large as possible without leading men to let up on their useful undertakings.

Great fortunes ought not to be handed on intact to relatives who have rendered the world no service. Not merely should the community take a large share in tares, but it can fairly ask that such men of wealth leave large amounts in bequests to public philanthropies.

Don't Handicap Your Personality

Personality is one of the most important considerations in the college or business life of the young man. When the personality fails to please other attainments often go for naught. While the young man is acquiring an education or a business training he should also be acquiring a favorable personality.

Neatness in dress, as a habit, undoubtly influences the development of personality, and it surely helps to emphasize the commanding traits.

To be neatly dressed at all times necessitates availing yourself of the services of a good cleaning and pressing shop. Good cleaning and pressing enhances the personality, while indifferent work, resulting in careless appearing clothes, is a positive handicap.

Smyrna A City of Death; Streets Full of Dead and Dying

Smyrna, Sept. 18—Smyrna, which the Turks called the eye of Asia, is a vast sepulchre of ashes, only the shattered walls of twenty-five thousand homes and the charred bodies of countless victims remain to tell the story of death and destruction unexampled in modern history. The ruins are still smoldering, like a volcano which has spent its fury. No effort has been made by the Turks to remove the dead and dying. The streets are full of the bodies of those who sought to escape, for the most part women and children.

Every building in the Armenian quarter has been burned with the dead lying about. The bay, which covers an area of fifty acres still carries on its surface the poor remnants of those who were massacred or sought to escape the ruthlessness of the foe.

But No Boats to Take Them

On the water front crouch thousands of survivors who fear death in another form at the hands of the soldiery; there are no boats to take them off.

Out of three hundred thousand Christians crowding the city prior to the descent of the Turks, only sixty thousand have been evacuated. Kemalist officials have informed the American relief workers that the return of the Christians to the interior means certain death.

Dr. McLaughlin, president of the American college, was severely beaten by Turkish irregulars and his clothes and money seized. He attributes his escape from death to the fact that he can speak Turkish and worked a ruse on the Turks.

E. M. Fisher and E. O. Jacob, directors of Y. M. C. A., were held up and robbed by Turkish soldiers, and, when attributed escape, were fired upon. The shots, however, went wild, and they reached a place of safety.

A temporary American consulate in charge of vice consul Maynard D. Barnes has been established on a quay at the end of the town. The Stars and Stripes is the only foreign flag ashore.

The American destroyers, Lawrence, Edsall and Simpson are still here; their officers and crews have been practically without sleep for five days and are doing gallant work. The only American property which escaped destruction was the Standard Oil plant and two tobacco warehouses in the outskirts of the city.

RICHBERG SAYS "HEARSAY AND PERJURY" AGAINST STRIKERS

Work to Be Resumed on New York Central Lines in Few Days Jewell Says

Chicago, Sept. 18.—The evidence against the striking rail workers is based "on an avalanche of hearsay and perjury evidence on the defendants in the proceedings," Attorney Richberg for the unions charged today in injunction proceedings in the federal court in a removal of the motion to dismiss the Daugherty injunction.

Chicago, Sept. 18—Work will be resumed on the New York Central lines within a few days is the opinion of B. M. Jewell who left for New York to assist personally in resuming negotiations which were suspended between him and the roads officials. The differences are of a minor nature and he is expected to have road accept the Baltimore agreement.

YOUNG ELVIN JONES STABBED BY NEGRO IN OMAHA FRIDAY.

Elvin Jones, 15-year-old son of Charles Jones of north of Quitman, was stabbed by a negro at Omaha when the young boy was passing an alley in that city Friday night. Jones was not badly injured and returned to his home Saturday night. From information received by The Democrat-Forum, it seems that young Jones left Quitman Thursday for Elmo, but instead of getting off at Elmo went on to Omaha as this train did not make a stop at Elmo. After the stabbing, Jones was picked up by the police at Omaha, and was put on the train for his home.

She is survived by four daughters, two of whom are Mrs. J. D. Frank of Livingston, Texas, and Miss Edith Elmore, who lived with her mother. The other two daughters are married and one lives in San Francisco and the other in New York.

ORNATE COIFFURE OF GEISHA

Headdress of Japanese Dancing Girl Is Expensive and She Is Careful of It.

Probably the Japanese geisha has erected her hair into the most elaborate coiffure that fashion has accepted for one of her modes in any country in the world. Except that it is more ornate than that of the average woman of Japan, the geisha headdress, in general structure and line, in its use of silver and gold papers, of artificial flowers and jade or coral hairpins, expresses the conventional Japanese idea of what woman's crowning glory should be like, says Asia. She requires a professional "kamigama" to do it for her. Naturally she does not feel that she can afford to pay 10 or 20 cents every morning for this adornment of the outside of her head; so at night she props her neck on a tiny hard pillow—in the ancient days "mahota" were made of porcelain or wood—and takes care to keep her coiffure in as good order as she can.

The long black hair is oiled so that not a single strand shall be out of place, and the final effect is that of a carved black lacquer frame around the delicate yellow of the face.

Nevada Natural Wonder.

"The Devil's Postpile" is located in the Sierra Nevada mountains on the middle fork of the San Joaquin river. The "pile" is a mile long, half as wide, and 400 feet high. The odd formation whence its appellation is derived is not everywhere in evidence, cropping out only in certain places. The most striking columns constitute more than 1,000 feet of its western face. They rise over 100 feet above the talus—a vast heap of broken "posts" accumulated through the process of weathering. How far downward they extend is a matter of conjecture. The columns in this amazing bluff are arranged in rows as regularly as the pipes of an organ. Almost perfect prisms, they are fitted together like cells in a honeycomb, and really look as if carved by human hands. These columns range from 14 inches to more than 3 feet in diameter. Most of them are pentagonal, whereas elsewhere the general shape is hexagonal.

A Helping Hand.

My sister and I were on the boat which was to take us up the river when I remembered an important telephone message I ought to have made. I hurried off the gangplank, up the street, and into the nearest drug store. As I returned the last passengers were going aboard the boat.

"Where is your ticket, miss?" asked the white-ducked official.

Where, indeed! I dashed back to the drug store. Fortunately, my purse was where I had left it.

But when I reached the boat again the plank had been taken in.

"It's all right, miss," said the grinning negro porter on the wharf. And before I knew what was happening he had picked me up and thrown me lightly over a foot or two of water into the arms of a sailor on the boat.—

FIRE IN MIKE HUMPHREY'S HOME SATURDAY NIGHT

Chief Burt M. Rowley Found an Electric Iron Had Started the Smoke, So He Carried It Out

The fire department was called to 621 East Second street about 10:30 o'clock Saturday night when neighbors discovered smoke coming from the Mike C. Humphrey's home at that location. Fire Chief Burt M. Rowley found noone at home and after borrowing a skeleton key, he unlocked the front door and discovered the smoke was caused by an electric iron on an ironing board being on. Chief Rowley took the iron and ironing board outside the house and chemicals were used to put it out. No water was used and the only damage to the house was from smoke.

Chief Rowley after the fire, locked the front door of the house with the skeleton key. He was unable to get into communication with the owner of the house, Mr. Humphrey. If neighbors had not discovered smoke coming from the house when they did, the house would have probably been destroyed.

When the fire department made their run Saturday night a number of automobiles ran close to the fire wagon and if a sudden stop had been made somebody probably would have been hurt. Chief Rowley stated no motorist ought to get so close to the fire wagon and that a good safe distance would be a block off. Arrests have been threatened to be made if it is kept up. Complaint was also made Saturday night that a few cars had turned around in front of the fire wagon making their run. If this condition is kept up probably some cars will have a wheel taken off and somebody injured.

CHORUS IS ORGANIZED AT STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

To Be a Group of Men and One of Women—A Number of Concerts Planned for Year.

The College Chorus at the State Teachers College was organized at 1:20 o'clock this afternoon under the direction of Charles P. Gardner, head of the Conservatory of Music. A large number of students was present at the organization and from this number a chorus of sixty select voices will be picked. This body will form the College Chorus.

The chorus will be subdivided into two groups, the men's and women's glee clubs. Each of these groups will meet once a week with Mr. Gardner and then another time every week the chorus as a whole will meet.

The Men's Glee Club will meet every Friday afternoon at 2:20 o'clock and the Women's Glee Club will meet every Monday at 1:20 o'clock. The combined clubs will meet every Thursday morning at 11 o'clock.

A number of things have been planned for the chorus for this year, the first of which will be a concert which will be given at the annual meeting of the teachers of Northwest Missouri which will be held at the College in October. A Christmas program is also planned and later the chorus will present the oratorio, "The Holy City," by Gaul. Again in the spring an opera will be given.

Mr. Gardner said this afternoon that there were some splendid voices both among the men and women of the College and that he is confident that the College Chorus will be a wonderful success. In regard to the Community Chorus he said that this institution would be re-organized the first of October. He said that the people of Maryville demanded the community chorus and that he was only too glad to give it to them.

A Well-Known New York Banker Says:

"The place of advertising in the present economic system is thoroughly well established."

Goodwill has come to be a vital factor in the success of any business, and goodwill can only be created by right and persistent advertising.

A manufacturer who advertises honestly the stability and quality of his goods sets for himself a standard of production. He makes a treaty of faith with the buying public which he upholds at any cost.

Frequently, for the purpose of promotion, the manufacturer needs financial assistance.

The time is fast approaching when bankers, having carefully investigated the standing of a manufacturer desiring a loan, will ask this leading question:

"What is his advertising appropriation?"

Produce Review.

Rain through most of the producing sections has improved pasturage, and gives promise of some increase in the deliveries of cream. Prices show little change from last week. Dairy authorities suggest that at this time of the year, when the gross is short, it is a good plan to give the cows a little extra feed, both morning and evening, in order to keep up the milk flow.

The supply of fresh eggs is smaller, and good prices are being paid. There is an over-supply of held stock and prices are not quite as firm as last week. There is a large surplus of eggs in cold storage.

Poultry receipts have been about normal for the season. The approaching Jewish holidays have increased the demand, with some advance noted for live poultry and a more satisfactory situation for dressed stock. Any large increase in the movement would probably be followed by some reaction in prices.

News Of The Constitutional Convention For Past Week

Jefferson City, Sept. 15—Upon the completion of the Suffrage and Elections report by the committee of the whole, the report of the Committee on Legislation which had been completed in the committee of the whole, was called up Thursday for consideration in the convention. Minor amendments were passed upon and new amendments were presented. One calling for the payment of a salary of $750 per year to members of the general assembly, but placing no limitation on the length of the session, met with little support and was voted down, 45 to 12, as was an amendment for $1800 salary annually. Another amendment provided for a salary of $400 per annum and a per diem of $2 per day additional for all regular and special sessions. This met a similar fate, as did one changing the limitation of sessions from the committee provision of sixty days to seventy days, which is now in effect.

A proposed additional section to the committee report aims to prevent the legislature in the future from granting special powers to any boards, associations or agencies, the proposal being made a special order for Tuesday morning, Sept. 19. It provides that, "Any examination as to qualifications, where the public welfare requires qualifications, for the practice of any occupation or profession, shall not be delegated to any board, association or agency thereof, but shall be conducted under the supervision of one of the appropriate departments of state under such regulations as the general assembly may provide, and shall be upon the essentials of the theory and practice and sufficient to fairly test the qualifications of the applicant; provided, that all persons admitted to any occupation or profession shall be of good moral character."

The report of the Committee on Rules, which sought to place a limit on debate in the committee of the whole, except where extended by the convention, when the necessity of more time was apparent, was voted down Thursday, not receiving the required 42 votes of the convention. The question had failed passage last week, but that vote was reconsidered. Now, unless the matter is brought up again, the reports will be debated without definite limitation in the committee of the whole as well as in the convention. The provisions of the committee report were intended to facilitate business, and the way was left open to increase the time whenever it was necessary to do so. But the members opposed to the rule contended that the matters before the convention were too important to be limited in any way, and so they voted to give every member all the time that he desired to speak on any subject up for discussion.

The report of the Committee on Judiciary, which was temporarily withdrawn from general debate, will be the subject for consideration during the coming week. An effort has been made to meet some of the objections raised to the report in its original form and the committee believes that it has found a common ground on which a majority of the convention can stand. In the provision for the judicial council, which was strenuously opposed, the committee now provides that the rules made by the council may be annulled by the general assembly, so that any rules that are found objectionable would not stand over two years. Justices of the peace courts in such number as may be found necessary in each county are provided for. County commissioners to take the place of the present county court are provided for beginning Jan. 1, 1927, and the county court made a court of record with probate powers; jurisdiction over juvenile cases, except in cities of 300,000, in which cities the circuit court will have jurisdiction; power of preliminary examination in felony cases; jurisdiction in misdemeanor cases; in civil cases where the amount involved, exclusive of interest and costs, does not exceed $2,000; in cases involving the title to real estate regardless of the pecuniary amount involved, provided, that such cases may be removed to the circuit court on application of any defendant; to hear and determine divorce cases and matters incident thereto; to issue, hear and determine remedial writs without regard to the pecuniary amount involved and such other jurisdiction as may be conferred upon it by law. The court is to be held at such times and places in each county as may be provided by law, but at least one term shall be held each month. Appeals from the county court are to be taken direct to the supreme court and courts of appeal.

With two committee reports completed by the committee of the whole and six others awaiting consideration the Constitutional Convention is making progress toward a completion of its duties. Meeting two sessions daily the work is forging steadily ahead and though much time is being taken on some sections of the reports submitted it is necessary that they be considered most carefully when it is understood that the document now written may be the basic law of the commonwealth for a century to come. The legislative and suffrage and election reports go to the Committee on Phraseology and Arrangement and then come back for a second reading. They may then be amended before engrossment, third reading and passage. But there is little likelihood that any important change will be made from those already passed on by the committee of the whole.

The eight reports made by committees to the convention are Legislative, Suffrage and Elections, Judiciary, State Officers and Salaries, Public Health and Welfare, Executive and Ministerial Departments, Bill of Rights and Corporations. These represent a consideration by the committees of 193 of the 329 proposals submitted to the convention. Every proposal has been considered and disposed of in some manner, but very few of them have found their way into the reports, in the form at least, in which they were presented. Many had no place in the constitution, being purely legislative in character.

It has been suggested in a newspaper report that farmers and others in the state, who have shown opposition to the convention, were afraid that the members were bent on increasing state expenses and therefore taxes. Nothing could be farther from the truth. On the contrary, in every committee an attempt has been made in the consideration of the problems, to conserve the interests of the taxpayers in every way possible. An earnest effort is being made to reduce the expense of the government and to lighten the burdens of the taxpayers. If some of the sections written by the various committees with this end in view are passed upon favorably by the convention, the proponents feel that they can go before the people and promise an incalculable saving to the taxpayers if the constitution is adopted. All the expense of the convention, they contend, will be a mere trifle when compared with the annual saving that will result.

Representatives of the St. Louis Board of Education appeared before an informal session of the Committee on Education Wednesday. They wished to inform themselves on the proposals of the committee relative to supervision of the schools of St. Louis. They were informed that it was the intention of the committee report in providing for a state board of education to have its powers extend to all the public schools of the State and therefore to St. Louis. The representatives did not wish to express an opinion offhand, but took a copy of the committee report, so far as it is completed, and promised to write to the chairman as to the conclusion reached. This will include an opinion on the teachers' retirement fund provision which the committee had tentatively agreed upon, because of the demand that came from St. Louis and Kansas City that the general assembly be given the power to pass an enabling act for local option on the question.

The report of the Committee on Taxation, the provisions of which have been tentatively adopted, is being written up for submission and final passage by the committee before it goes to the convention. It will probably be at least ten days before this report comes into the convention. It will contain some of the most important provisions for consideration by the members, and which may be among the most far reaching of any to be submitted in the constitution when finally completed.

Many petitions are pouring in asking for favorable action on the proposal regarding the reading of the Bible in the schools. This provision, as has been previously stated, comes to the convention from the bill of rights committee where it received a tie vote, and so will be considered by the committee of the whole as a separate proposition, but if adopted will be put into the bill of rights.

Both petitions and remonstrances continue to come in for and against the passage of proposal 192, the only measure in the report of the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

KEEP ONLY THE GOOD LAYERS

Low Egg Prices Emphasize Need of Careful Culling.

A report from the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Markets, indicates that there are approximately one and one-half million cases of eggs more in storage at the present time than has ever been held at this season during any previous year. In addition to these large storage stocks current receipts of eggs are unusually heavy and the apparent consumptive demand is not much above normal. Under these conditions barring an unusually severe winter, egg prices will not reach the usual high peak during the winter months, say the extension poultrymen of the Missouri College of Agriculture, and poultry keepers can well afford to cull their flocks very closely. The cheaper eggs may be, the more important it is that only high producing hens be kept if the poultryman expects to secure a profit from his flock. Unusually good crops of early hatched pullets have been produced this year, so it would appear to be the part of wisdom for flock owners to sell all of their old hens except the outstanding high producers which are to be saved for breeders, and carefully to cull the pullets to elminate the slow developing or pinch-backed birds.

Extension Circular No. 111, which can be secured free by addressing the Agricultural Extension Service, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo., gives up-to-date instructions for culling and should be in the hands of every flock owner.

TOMMY MILTON WINS IN AUTO RACES AT KANSAS CITY

Roscoe Sarles Burned to Death When His Machine Went Over Rim of Speedway

The first race on the new Kansas City Speedway yesterday afternoon, was won by Tommy Milton, winner of the 500 mile auto classic at Indianapolis in 1921. Milton drove the 300 mile race at Kansas City yesterday in 2:47:52.96, at an average speed of about 108 miles an hour. He went to the pits twice in the race, both times for a tire. These two stops lost him three-quarters of a lap.

After the first forty-five laps the race was gruesome to say the least One man was burned to death. Roscoe Sarles, after crashing with Pete De Paola, jumped over the outside rim of the speedway, fell twenty-five feet and the machine caught fire. Sarles was pinned under the car and was burned to death. Pickup, Sarles mechanician, attempted to jump when the car jumped the track but was unable to do so. He was fatally injured.

Harry Hartz finished second in the race. Frank Elliot was third, Ralph Mulford, fourth and Jerry Wunderlich fifth. First money was $10,000.

Five others were injured besides Sarles and Pickup. They were: Joe Thomas, Pete De Paola, Eddie Hearne and mechanicians Ed Hefferman and Harry Henning.

The number of accidents which occurred yesterday is not attributed to the track however. Possibly the fact that it was a new speedway and the desire to break or set records caused the drivers to be carefree and fearless. Anyhow many chances were taken. Time and again the cars raced by the pits when they should have stopped for tires. It was this that caused the majority of the accidents and not the fact that the track was at fault.

A number of Maryville people attended the races, among whom were Dr. C. M. Cline, Kenneth Fordyce, Horace Felton and Raymond Murrin.

THREE CONVICTS CAUGHT; HAD ESCAPED FROM ALBANY

Capture Made in Iowa—Dawson Calls Special Grand Jury to Investigate.

Dewey Lawter, Harold Sweeney and Alfred Meeks, the three convicts who escaped from the Gentry county jail at Albany Thursday night about 9 o'clock, after overpowering the guard and walking from the bastile, were captured Saturday in Iowa, according to information received in St. Joseph by Captain Raphael at the central police station, says the St. Joseph Gazette.

The men were sentenced Wednesday afternoon by Judge Dawson to serve eight, seven and two years respectively in the penitentiary at Jefferson City for robbery of the Hass-Wren mercantile store at Stanberry, July 27. They were arrested in St. Joseph the next morning. St. Joseph police and officers took them to Albany and spent four days during their trial testifying against them.

Rewards of $500 had been offered for their seizure and Judge Dawson called a special grand jury to investigate the easy escape they managed to make from the county jail.

According to information received in Maryville the convicts after getting permission to ride on a freight train from the brakeman were locked in a refrigerator car by him and at the next station the authorities were notified.

BE CAREFUL ABOUT SPEEDING ON THE WAY TO FIRES

Alarm Does not Set Aside Rules and Machines Get in Way—Joe Thompson Fined

The sounding of the fire alarm does not give everyone in town license to drive like mad, disregarding all traffic rules, and Mayor Fred P. Robinson has declared war on such practice. He said this morning that arrests would be made for speeding in time of fires just the same that they are made at other times for violations of traffic rules.

"When a fire occurs racing to it with a lot of motor cars not only puts the lives and property of many people in danger but it makes against the efficiency of the department in fighting the fire," said the mayor this morning. "The motor cars follow the fire truck so closely that when it stops it is surrounded by machines which are in the way of the firemen as they start to run their hose."

Joe Thompson was speeding to the fire on East Second street Saturday night and was fined $5 and cost in police court this morning. He plead guilty to the charge.

TRENTON GETS BIG SURPRISE FROM CORYDON

Score in Opening Game Was 0 to 0—Coach H. Frank Lawrence Giving Good Workouts

Trenton got a big surprise Friday afternoon when in the opening game of the football season Corydon held its team to a 0 to 0 score. The Trenton Daily Republican says that the Trenton line is unseasoned, with the exception of one man, but that the line held well. Neither side got closer than the 10-yard line to the goal. Considerable interest is manifested in Maryville in the games of Trenton, as the Trenton-Maryville game is expected to be one of the big events of the season.

Coach H. Frank Lawrence of Maryville High School is giving the Maryville boys a lot of good workouts and has a pleasing way about handling the men. He seems to understand the game and coaching well and no doubt will put a strong team in the field.

Mrs. Forrest T. Gillam returned Saturday noon from Kansas City where she had been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Z. Palmer.

500 CALVES 500

Hereford Angus Shorthorns

In making this offering at public sale we believe the farmers and feeders of this community have an opportunity to purchase cattle of a kind and quality seldom assembled. Every animal to be sold was selected by us on the range where they were grown and they represent the tops out of thousands of heads.

Every experienced cattleman knows full well the disadvantages generally attached to buying cattle on the central markets, where stock often becomes stale and subject to excessive fills. This we have eliminated as our cattle comes fresh direct from the producer to the farmer, a fact well worth considering.

With all kinds of feed in abundance and more particularly in this locality than others, it is an opportune time to invest in good cattle.

Cattle will be sold in lots to suit purchaser to the highest bidder absolutely without exception.

This is the best prepared, machine mined, strongest burning coal mined in the state; will make more heat than any Illinois coal. Specially adapted for furnace, heating stoves and steam, but little soot or clinkers. All coal well forked.

Have Illinois lump or nut, Wyoming lump or nut in transit. Expect to arrive any time. Give your order so it can be delivered direct from cars. Country schools should take advantage now and get their supply, as car shortage is getting more intense every day.

Plenty of good dry sawed or cord wood; hay, ground feed, bran, shorts, oil meal.

On and after Sept. 16, ice will not be delivered in residence district on Tuesday and Thursday of each week.

Yours for business,

Wm. Everhart
